

WAGE-HOUR BILL REVISED, SWEEPS THROUGH HOUSE

Encounters Last Ditch Opposition From South- ern Foes

Washington, May 25.—(AP)—The revamped wage-hour bill swept through the House by a triumphant combination of northern Democrats and Republicans, encountered last-ditch opposition today from southern senators.

Senator Barkley (D-Ky.), the administration leader, said he would seek to have a Senate-House committee appointed at once in an effort to work out a compromise between the House bill and the version passed by the Senate last July.

There were indications, however, that Senate foes of the inflexible labor standards in the House measure would try to route it back to the Senate labor committee.

Senator Thomas (D-Utah), chairman of that group, has contended the legislation should establish variations in wages between the north and south or between industries where conditions warrant.

Although there has been no definite threat of a Senate filibuster, opponents made no secret of their hope that imminent adjournment would prevent agreement on any wage-hour bill.

Proponents of the legislation scored a smashing victory in the House last night, shoving the measure to final passage by a vote of 314 to 97 just about a year after the original version reached Congress.

Forty-six Republicans joined 256 Democrats, 7 Progressives and 5 Farmer-Laborites in favoring the bill. Opposing it were 56 Democrats and 41 Republicans.

The vote was a reversal of a House decision last December, when Republicans and southern Democrats shelved a different wage-hour bill. The new measure was forced to the floor over the opposition of the rules committee.

Galleries Crowded

Crowded galleries witnessed the bill's final passage about 10:30 p. m., after the longest session of the year. Supporters of the measure sat way past their dinner hour to defeat almost every major attempt to amend it.

As approved, the bill would establish a graduated minimum wage for interstate industry, starting at 25 cents an hour and increasing to 40 cents after three years. Maximum hours would start at 44 a week and drop to 40 in two years.

Under the Senate bill, an independent administrative board would have power to fix minimum wages from 40 cents an hour downward and a maximum work week of 40 hours or more.

Southern Democrats in the House led an unsuccessful fight to adopt a substitute offered by Representative Ramspeck (D-Ga.) to fix graduated minimum wages based on the "weighted average" wage of individual occupations. An administrative board would have been empowered to grant exemptions, making possible wage differentials between industries or geographical areas.

Proponents also beat down the so-called "grange" amendment to grant sweeping exemptions to processors of agricultural and dairy products.

As a concession to farm members, however, the House leadership agreed to an amendment exempting first processors of dairy products and the ginning and compressing of cotton. It also would exempt from the hours' provisions the processing of perishable fresh fruits and vegetables and the slaughtering of livestock.

JAP RAILROAD DOMINATION OF CHINA IS NEAR

Shanghai, May 25.—(AP)—The Japanese announced today they had at last gained complete control of the 800-mile Tientsin-Pukow railroad and expected to resume operation linking Peiping and Shanghai early next month.

The Japanese said they closed gaps in the line south of Suhow to effect control, after fighting along the route for 325 days.

Domei (Japanese news agency) reported plans were under way for a merger of the Japanese-sponsored governments at Peiping and Nanking when railway communication actually was established.

Since the war began July 7, 1937, Japanese have effected nominal occupation of a vast area comprising nearly one-fourth the total area of China. Rail communication between Peiping and Shanghai would be an important factor in getting that territory.

Continuing their drive against Kaifeng, ancient capital 40 miles from the important junction at Chengchow of the east-west Lung-hai and the Peiping-Hankow railways, Japanese said they reached a small town ten miles east of their goal.

Chinese insisted the attack there was repulsed.

Bare-Faced Rhinoceros, May 25— (AP)—Because of a bear at his door, T. R. Holling, of Peoria, Ill., was arraigned in court yesterday on a charge of fishing without a non-resident license.

Holling, who has a summer home near Three Lakes, told County Judge M. F. Steele he was trying to catch a fish "to feed a vicious bear that has been bothering my family."

But Judge Steele, a woodsman himself, fined Holling $50 and then remitted the fine when the Illinois man promised to get a license. Wardens said there were many bears in the vicinity but none were vicious.

CAST READY TO PRESENT "MOVIE QUEEN" COMEDY

Matinee For School Children Planned After Classes

The local talent musical comedy "Movie Queen" which features a moving picture of Dixon and 65 local characters in person on the stage, will be shown one day only, tomorrow, at Dixon high school at 4 P. M. and against at 8:15 P. M.

All seats for the evening performance are reserved. No extra charge is being made for reservations and the public is asked to take their tickets to the Candy Box for reservations immediately.

Movie scenes of all Dixon will be shown in the fourth act of "Movie Queen." The local film features the movie queen Miss Jean Thompson's vacation in Dixon and she was followed all over town as she shopped or played. Movies will be shown of the movie queen parade honoring Miss Thompson, Sunday church goers, school children, street scenes, baseball game last Sunday, newsreel shots of Dixon and the kidnapping pictures made last Saturday.

A case of sixty-five will present the first three acts of the stage show. Both Miss Thompson and Haupter who have the leads in the production, handle their parts with skill. Miss Thompson, the queen, plays the part of Mary Brown, a local girl who wins a free trip to Hollywood for writing an essay on her petunia garden for a magazine and through unpredictable circumstances wins movie fame and glory.

Haupter in Lead Role

Haupter plays the part of Jimmy Cain, the fast-talking, wise-cracking publicity agent through whose efforts Miss Thompson is skyrocketed to stardom. James Ketchen appears as Mr. Goldstein of Goldstein, Goldstein & Goldstein, Inc., a Jewish movie producer, one of the leading comedy roles. It is predicted that Tom Murphy as Monsieur Flowers, an effeminate dress designer, will steal his part of the show and that his mincing steps, lisping tongue and chiffon handkerchief will long be remembered in the highlights of local comedy. Leona Orrt gives an excellent portrayal of Marieno Slarbo, an ex-Russian actress who combines the glamour and temperament of a Dietrich and a Garbo. Mrs. Coral Lambert plays the role of Madame Mabrowski familiarly known as Ma Brown, mother of the movie queen and a small town busybody. Mrs. Lambert contributes her share to the comedy of the production.

John Mills is exceptionally good as Director Von Von Heim a temperamental Hollywood director. Paul Potts as Barrymore Cohen the villain in an old-fashioned comedy.

MORGAN ISSUES CHARGE AGAINST TVA DIRECTORS

He Testifies at Length Regarding Negotiations With the Company

Washington, May 25.—(AP)—Arthur E. Morgan charged today that two Tennessee Valley Authority directors—H. A. Morgan and David E. Lillenthal—participated in falsifying a report on TVA negotiations for the purchase of utility properties owned by the Commonwealth and Southern Corporation.

A. E. Morgan, ousted chairman of the TVA testified before a ten-man congressional inquiry committee, elaborating on charges he had made previously against the other two directors.

After making a general charge that "collusion, conspiracy and mismanagement" had characterized the administration of TVA, the tall, gray-haired former chairman said Lillenthal made a "persistent attempt" to convince the public that Commonwealth and Southern "was arbitrarily refusing to sell its properties."

Through Wendell L. Wilkie, its president, Commonwealth and Southern repeatedly offered to sell "any or all" of its properties, Morgan said.

LENGTHY TESTIMONY

He testified at length regarding negotiations with the company, which he said were carried on largely by Lillenthal. After a meeting of Wilkie and the TVA board last January, the former chairman said, Lillenthal issued a news release which "gave a very false and inaccurate impression" of Wilkie's position.

"The news release was an explicit falsification, the natural result of which was to deceive the public on a vital issue, to engender increased public bitterness toward the utilities and to substitute conflict and recrimination for open and aboveboard dealing with the facts," Morgan said, adding:

"Both the other directors were deliberately and consciously parties to this falsification."

The lanky, 58-year-old Morgan, called to amplify his previous charges against the other two TVA directors, asserted the latter had not given an "honest administration of a great public trust."

To Be Heard Later

The other directors, H. A. Morgan and David E. Lillenthal, were to be heard later.

In a packed senate committee room, Morgan made six specific charges against the other two directors, telling the inquiry committee they had been responsible for:

"1. Inaccurate and misrepresentative reports to the President, the congress, and the public.

"2. Mismanagement of the power program.

"3. Lack of candor in statements to the congress and the public in reference to the 'yardstick'.

"5. Collusion, conspiracy and

Passenger Train Wrecked West of Freeport, 2 Die

Freeport, Ill., May 25.—(AP)—Two railroadmen were killed today when a Chicago Great Western passenger train was wrecked four miles west of Freeport. The train was bound from Minneapolis to Chicago.

The dead were Barney Gosnell, 60, engineer, and E. G. Zaleski, 40, fireman, both of Chicago.

Railroad officials said they had not yet determined the cause of the wreck, in which the locomotive plunged from the track and overturned on an embankment.

Two express cars and a day coach were derailed.

No passengers were injured.

Dr. Edward A. Diestelmeier, coroner, said he would conduct an inquest.

The driver of the truck, a resident of Tiskilwa, was not present to testify at the inquisition, and Coroner Kenyon B. Segner stated that because of the action of the board of supervisors in refusing to pay the expense of telephone calls in summoning witnesses, he had not been called as a witness. The inquest, which was opened Sunday morning at 10:30, was concluded last evening at 5 o'clock at the Jones funeral home.

Two Giant Pandas Chicago, May 25.—(AP)—Mrs. William H. Harkness, Jr., American explorer, was flying from New York to San Francisco today to board the China Clipper for the Orient after receiving word of the capture of two baby giant pandas by her advance hunting party on the Chinese-Tibetan border.

Herbert H. Bradley, chairman of the animal committee of the Chicago Zoological Park, said Mrs. Harkness was informed by her Chinese agent, Quentin Young that the capture included both a male and female panda.

Bradley said both pandas would be brought to Chicago by Mrs. Harkness in accordance with an agreement with the zoo.

WRANGLING IN COURT SLOWS CRABB TRIAL

Pekin, Ill., May 25.—(AP)—A battle by defense attorneys to inject the possibility that narcotic impregnated cigarettes had been smoked on the night that Betty Collison Crabb was shot and killed in the home of Willis Crabb, wealthy Delavan banker, failed today when Judge Joseph E. Daily ruled the questioning was improper and the defense was unable to present the jury statements they attributed to him concerning the possibility of narcotic cigarettes having been a factor in the shooting.

The opposing attorneys, J. M. Powers for the defense, and Special Assistant Attorney General John Cassidy for the prosecution, rallied at each other across the table until the shouting grew so loud Judge Daily was forced to ask both to be seated. The case proceeded slowly, the wrangling by the lawyers occupying more than half the morning.

As the noon hour neared, the jury was excluded and the attorneys sought a law library to settle a moot point while Don Hoebel, manager of the Illini Publishing company at Champaign and a guest at the party which Mr. and Mrs. James Warner Crabb attended in Delavan immediately preceding the fatal shooting, was on the witness stand.

Because the defense refused to indicate whether Collison was through as a witness and therefore permitted to remain in the courtroom, Cassidy objected to the presence of James Crabb's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Crabb, in the room and she was excluded. A motion by Cassidy to lock up the jury for duration of the trial was overruled by the judge.

Jury's Verdict is Accidental Death

A verdict of accidental death was returned by the coroner's jury which last evening heard three witnesses to Saturday night's tragic accident on state route 26 in East Grove township, which cost the life of Francis Doran of Ohio on his seventeenth birthday. A skull fracture and other injuries caused the death of the Ohio high school student who with a group of his classmates was driving to Dixon to attend a theater party after having enjoyed the annual junior-senior high school banquet and program at the Ohio high school.

Mary Jane Hannon of Rock Falls and Anna Ogan of Ohio, classmates, who were riding in the front seat with Francis when his car side-swiped a heavy cattle truck which was traveling in the opposition direction, and Michael Faley, also an Ohio high school student, testified that they did not see the approaching truck until just before the crash.

The driver of the truck, a resident of Tiskilwa, was not present to testify at the inquisition, and Coroner Kenyon B. Segner stated that because of the action of the board of supervisors in refusing to pay the expense of telephone calls in summoning witnesses, he had not been called as a witness. The inquest, which was opened Sunday morning at 10:30, was concluded last evening at 5 o'clock at the Jones funeral home.

Failure of Motors is Blamed by Officials For Crash of Big Airliner

Ten Persons Die In Wreck Near Cleveland Last Night

Cleveland, May 25.—(AP)—W. A. Patterson, president of United Air Lines, said today that the trim twin-motored airliner which dove into a suburban ravine last night, killing ten persons, suffered "simultaneous power failure of both engines" just before the crash.

Patterson said an investigation of the tragic wreckage, only eight miles from Cleveland airport where the plane was scheduled to land, showed that "neither of the two engines was in operation at the moment of the impact."

"It is pertinent," Patterson said, "that in United's flying experience of many millions of miles with twin-engined airplanes which are capable of sustained flight with one of the two engines, this is the first time the company has experienced what appears to be simultaneous power failure of both engines."

The two pilots, the stewardess and all seven passengers died as flames leapt at the wreckage of the plane.

Pilot Reports

Vanderhoof, B. C., May 25.—(AP)—Bill Martin, mechanic for a Pacific Airways plane, reached Fort St. James, north of here, late yesterday, after a 26-hour hike over rugged country to bring word of a fatal plane crash early Sunday.

Martin, suffering from scalp injuries, said a passenger, Dan Miner, of Fort St. James, B. C., was killed and Mrs. Allan East and Pilot Charles B. Elliott, both of Vancouver, were injured.

A Canadian Airways plane was sent to rescue the injured and bring out Miner's body.

The United Air Lines ship, bound from Newark to Chicago, via Cleveland, was on the ground.

Dr. S. R. Gerber, coroner, after examining the bodies, said he believed fire was the cause of death of all ten. Dr. Gerber said it was "impossible to tell" because of the condition of the bodies what injuries the victims received, but declared his belief that all were living when fire engulfed the plane. All probably were unconscious, he said.

His official finding was "accidental death caused by fire."

Among the passengers was John Brostuen, Republican state chairman of North Dakota, who was returning to his Alexander, N. D., home from a Washington conference with his state's senators.

The plane, flying under a clear sky, swooped toward earth within sight of the Cleveland airport.

It clipped off the tops of trees two feet thick and plunged into a natural grave in the wooded gulley. One of the motors was sheared off and left atop a side of the gulley, 25 feet from the plane itself, which landed in a mass of wild grape vines. A wing was left 72 feet from the two trees it clipped off.

Double Grief Chicago, May 25.—(AP)—Twice in a single day tragedy struck at Omer Doty, 65, and his wife, Anna, 63, of Decatur, Ill.

In Chicago last night to arrange a funeral for a son who killed himself, the Dotys were informed another son was killed in the crash of a United airliner in Ohio.

Harold Doty, 45, an unemployed salesman, was killed early yesterday beneath a Milwaukee road train in suburban Elmwood Park. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide.

The other son, L. Arthur, 42, of Boston, was flying here for the funeral of Harold when his plane crashed, bringing death to ten.

Horner Signs Record Relief Appropriation

Legislature Meets Critical Chicago Relief Trouble

Springfield, Ill., May 26.—(AP)—Bills boosting the state's direct relief allotments to an all time peak of $3,400,000 monthly were signed by Governor Horner today.

Designed to avert a relief crisis in Chicago and a few downstate communities, the $4,500,000 appropriation bills were sped through both Houses and to the governor's desk without a single negative vote. The governor's signature releases $500,000 at once and supplements the regular $2,900,000 monthly relief allotments by $500,000 for the next eight months.

Of the money made available today, approximately $329,000 was earmarked for Chicago, where Leo M. Lyons, executive secretary of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission, said 19 relief stations would reopen tomorrow long enough to distribute checks to 34,000 relief clients.

By executive order, Chairman John C. Martin of the IERC and Lyons were ready to allot the $171,000 balance to other downstate counties. Lyons cited Winnebago and St. Clair counties as others where shortages were acute. In Chicago, he said the new grant would provide "food only" for the remainder of the month.

Senator Harold G. Ward, Chicago Democratic leader, served notice he was ready to ask another $9,000,000 appropriation, the amount he said Chicago will need for the rest of the year. He said the money is available from sales tax money now in the state treasury.

Kelly, Horner's Guest

Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago sat on the rostrum while the Senate voted. He had conferred for several hours earlier with Governor Horner, was a dinner guest at the mansion and then attended a movie with the chief executive.

Kelly announced this conference, like the ones he had last week with Governor Horner, produced no agreement on a further program for relief in Chicago, where local tax funds have been spent.

"I am returning to Chicago to examine again the possibility of raising more money locally," he said.

This was taken to mean the governor held to his stand that the $4,500,000 he specified should be the limit of new state funds voted on. The mayor said he might return here next Tuesday when both houses reconvene.

Senator Dixon Absent

Senators George C. Dixon, Dixon Republican, and R. Wallace Karraker, Jonesboro Democrat, were recorded absent or not voting on the relief bill, which also passed the House without dissent.

Adjournment of the midnight session was delayed more than an hour while the Democratic majority assailed and eventually killed, 25 to 15, a resolution in which Senator Earl B. Searcy of Springfield, Republican minority leader, scored New Deal taxing.

"I want Illinois to be the first," Searcy said, "to go on record as advising Congress to alter its present course which has business hanging on the ropes."

Four Democrats, James O. Monroe, Collinsville; Francis J. Loughran, Chicago; H. S. Burgess, Fairfield, and Karraker, joined in hitting the resolution. Monroe called it "meaningless," Loughran said it was "futile" and Burgess said it was "plain politics."

The vote followed party lines. Senate Action

Other Senate action included: Passage of the Chicago airport expansion bill and special session appropriations totaling $167,000. They went to the House.

Advancement, to first reading, of the Ward bill for a three cent relief tax on cigarettes and the Stuttle bill for a state school board.

Reference to committee the Harper-Monroe bill for a "use" tax, extension of the three per cent sales tax to occupational purchases from outside the state.

Introduction by Senator Louis J. Menges, East St. Louis Democrat, of a bill permitting counties to tax natural gas for relief revenue.

Lee Gets Nothing

The state auditor's office announced today downstate counties will get $159,331 out of the appropriation.

Immediate distribution of the extra funds has been arranged by the auditor and the downstate field office of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission. The Cook county allocation is $349,109, of which $329,679 goes to Chicago. Nine downstate counties, having shown no need for extra relief funds, won't receive any of the new appropriation. They are Calhoun, Menard, Jasper, Le. Monroe, Richland, Stark, Wabash and Woodford.

The allocation to counties included: DeKalb, $443; Jo Daviess, $182; Ogle, $158; Stephenson, $1,512; Whiteside, $52 and Winnebago, $15,883.

50,000 SUDETEN GERMANS ATTEND COMRADES' RITES

Tension Heightens In Border Lands Of Czechoslovakia

Eger, Czechoslovakia, May 25.—(AP)—Fifty thousand sudeten Germans lining the streets of this ancient town today bowed in silent tribute as coffins of two of their fellows, killed in last Saturday's border shooting, passed in solemn procession—each coffin bearing a wreath from Adolf Hitler.

All shops of Eger, called the most German city in Czechoslovakia, were closed during the funeral. Black flags fluttered from windows of centuries-old houses.

Order was preserved along the cobble-stoned streets by sudeten German party men in uniform—black boots, riding breeches and gray shirts.

Reinforcements consisting of 200 Czechoslovak gendarmes were sent to Eger as a precaution, but on orders from the Prague government they remained in barracks subject to call in case of emergency.

Konrad Henlein, leader of the autonomy-seeking sudeten Germans delivered the funeral eulogy.

The funeral honoring Georg Hoffman and Nikolas Boehm, shot as they sped past a police barracks near the German frontier, was held in an atmosphere of tension that pervaded Czechoslovakia, and spread beyond its borders.

Hitler Wreaths Laid

The military and air attaches of the German legation in Praha laid wreaths from Hitler on the caskets and expressed condolences to the families of the victims on behalf of the German government.

The wreaths were of fir, bound with scarlet ribbons, lettered "Adolf Hitler" and stamped with the eagle and Swastika of Nazi Germany.

During the services in the tiny cemetery chapel within sight of the hills that mark the troubled frontier with Germany, not a Czech soldier or gendarme was in sight in the whole Eger area.

VIOLATIONS LISTED

Praha, May 25.—(AP)—The German minister, Dr. Ernest Eisenlohr, has called the attention of Foreign Minister Kamil Krofta to what he termed recent violations of the German frontier by Czechoslovak military planes.

A foreign office spokesman said today that Eisenlohr, in a visit to the foreign office last night, emphasized that he was not making a formal protest but was merely calling Krofta's attention to the situation.

Krofta assured Eisenlohr that measures already had been taken to prevent recurrence of such incidents.

WASHINGTON — Another U. S. agency has cracked down on the Hitler Government.

Duplicating Secretary Ickes' refusal to sell helium to the Nazis, the Securities and Exchange Commission has barred the further issuance of German refunding bonds in this country. In taking this stand the SEC reversed a previous ruling made under ex-Chairman James Landis, now Dean of the Harvard law school.

Under his ruling, the SEC OK'd a registration statement in March, 1937, filed by the Deutsches Konversions Kasse for the issuance of $60,000,000 of so-called "dollar" bonds, to cover defaulted interest payments on German municipal and industrial securities held by Americans. The registration statement was approved over the vigorous protest of Commissioner Robert Healy.

His challenge was based on the statement's failure to give the Commission the information the Securities Act requires a prospective bond issuer to make public regarding his total indebtedness. Healy argued that if American corporations had to abide by the law, there was no reason why foreign governments should not be forced to do likewise.

With the SEC's approval in its hands the Konversions Kasse, through its financial agents in this country, proceeded to exchange the refunding bonds for defaulted coupons. How many bonds have been distributed is not known.

Several weeks ago, however, SEC Chairman Douglas reopened the question of the legality of the Kasse's registration declaration, under a provision of the law which requires the submission of new information thirteen months after the filing of a prospectus. This time the SEC demanded detailed information on an item listed as "Unrecorded Debt" in the original registration.

The Kasse replied that it could not supply the information because the German Government would not furnish it.

To which the SEC, in effect, answered: "The Kasse is an agency of the German Government, and for it to say that the German Government will not furnish the required information is merely a subterfuge to evade the law. No information, no more bonds."

And that is the present status of the controversy. The Kasse has not met the SEC's demands, and the SEC has halted further distribution of the refunding bonds. The next move is up to the Nazi Government.

Note—The unrecorded debt of Germany is one of the most secret items of the Nazi Government. To disclose it would show, in part, how much Hitler is spending on rearmament, how deeply his Government has gone in the red to finance its aggression in Austria and Spain and its propaganda in Czechoslovakia.

Just Cattleman
E. J. Kelley, a WPA worker on the Arizona State Guide, set out on an assignment to find out what the old-time Arizona cow punchers were like. First he did some library research, then he dropped in on a cattleman's meeting in a Douglas, Arizona, hotel to get the modern slant.

Kelley was afraid it would be woefully tame. But when he got out, he filed this report:

"While I was sitting in the meeting, one cowboy pulled a .45 and aimed it at the fellow who sat next to me. This fellow had evidently been shot at before, for he dropped

Perpetual Novena Starts Here Friday

A perpetual novena, one of the first to be established in the Rockford diocese, will be opened Friday night at St. Patrick's Catholic church, above, under the direction of the Rev. T. R. Walsh, pastor of the church. The novena will be modeled after the special devotion which has attracted thousands of worshippers to Our Lady of Sorrows church in Chicago.

St. Patrick's Catholic church will have the distinction of being one of the first churches in the Rockford diocese to inaugurate a perpetual novena modeled after the special devotion which has attracted thousands of worshippers to Our Lady of Sorrows church in Chicago.

A parish in Aurora was the first in the diocese to establish a perpetual novena.

The Rev. T. R. Walsh, pastor of St. Patrick's parish, today outlined a week of services to be culminated by the opening of the novena Friday at 8 p. m. The Rev. Hugh Calkins, a leader in the mass novena movement in Chicago, addressed St. Patrick's congregation at all masses Sunday, Wednesday, a triduum, three nights of devotions beginning at 8 p. m., will be started. Friday, the last night of the triduum, will mark the opening of the novena, and every Friday night thereafter the service will be held.

Dirty Work
There is some "dirty work at the crossroads" behind the locked doors of the House and Senate conference on the new merchant marine bill.

When the measure was before the Senate, a provision was written into it by Senator Royal S. Copeland.

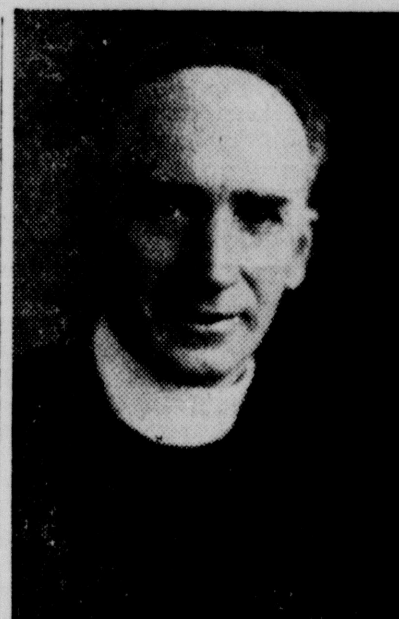

congregational singing, congregational prayers, and the via matris (Way of Our Mother). The via matris is a meditation on the seven sorrowful experiences in the life of the Virgin Mary. The via matris, similar in some respects to the fourteen stations of the cross, can be established in a church only by permission of the Servite Fathers of Chicago, with whom the devotion originated.

The Rev. Fr. Walsh obtained this permission recently and has erected the seven stations of the via matris in his church. The stations depict Simon's prophecy of the death of Jesus; the flight into Egypt; the loss of the Child Jesus in the temple; Mary's encounter with Jesus on the way to Calvary; the death of Jesus on the cross; Mary's reception of His body; and His entombment.

Conceived in 1927
The novena has gained a wide following in larger cities throughout the country. It was conceived by the Rev. Father James R. Keene of Our Lady of Sorrows parish in land, at the request of the maritime unions, broadening the power of the Maritime Commission to prescribe "minimum working conditions" for ship's crews. Under the rules of Congress, the conferees on a bill are required to put up a vigorous fight for the amendments made by their respective chambers.

But when the merchant marine bill went to conference to iron out differences between the House and Senate, it was a Senate conferee who took the initiative

Petitions for individual spiritual or material favors are made by novena goers, and prayers are said by the congregation that the petitions be heard.

toward scuttling the Copeland amendment.

Senator Josiah Bailey, North Carolina anti-unionite, completely disregarding the rules, made the motion to strike out Copeland's amendment. And voting with him on this issue was none other than the author of the amendment—Royal S. Copeland of New York.

Woodring vs. Mussolini
The national political stock of Secretary of War Harry Woodring has upped 100 per cent since he whanged the world's dictators, and got whanged in turn by Mussolini. Editorial comment and mail reaction were universally favorable. Apparently folks in this country like to whang the dictators.

Woodring's speech was OK'd at the White House, as are all important Cabinet speeches, and represented what Roosevelt privately believes but cannot say publicly. He came fairly close to it, however, in his Buenos Aires speech in 1936, which by the way also got a panning from Benito.

Merry-Go-Round
"Sec" Hull is anxious to head the American Delegation to the next Pan-American Conference to be held next winter in Lima, Peru. Unless something unforeseen happens, he will go. Representative Sam McReynolds, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, is getting the reputation among Latin Americans of being against the Roosevelt Good Neighbor Policy. He has been opposing hearings on Maury Maverick's bill to facilitate the exchange of students and other cultural relations. . . . One thing John L. Lewis was counting on in the Pennsylvania gubernatorial battle was the nomination of Gifford Pinchot by the Republicans. This would have given Lewis a chance to switch his labor vote to Pinchot. But Pinchot failed of nomination because the labor votes, usually swung in his direction, this time concentrated on the Democratic candidates. (Copyright, 1938, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

DEALER REPORTS TESTIMONY COST HIM BUSINESS

Appeared Before Federal Jury Against Finance Firms

Washington, May 25—(AP)—Senator Borah (R-Idaho), has put into the Senate record a letter from a Yorkville, Ill., motor car dealer who charged that his appearance before a federal grand jury which considered anti-trust indictment of auto finance firms "cost us our business."

The letter, bearing the typewritten signature of Fred L. Wright, said Wright was a government witness before the grand jury at Milwaukee, Wis., and asserted that "after this case was dismissed our firm was pushed around by the finance company in an effort by them to break us."

"Failing to do this, Ford Motor Company finally cancelled us out," the letter continued. The writer said his firm was obliged to take a $1,000 loss through forced liquidation by a finance company "and in addition (it) cost us our business."

The writer protested against the public announcement by the justice department that it would seek grand jury action against three motor firms and their affiliated finance companies soon at South Bend, Ind., for alleged practices in restraint of trade.

"Now the justice department, through the press, are giving these firms who penalized a witness for testifying ample notice that a suit is to be filed and you can bet every dealer called to testify will be recorded and for the sake of his business he will not dare to give evidence," the letter continued.

The name vaudeville is derived from Vau de Vire, a French town where humorous songs were written in the 15th century.

GUNFIRE RESUMED

A three-month dry spell turned the trees in France into kindling. Fire broke out to the east of Verdun. It swept through the forest of the Argonne, and 500 soldiers were sent from a neighboring garrison to fight it.

In the forest there was suddenly intermittent thunder . . . wild bursts of shell fire. Shortly the soldiers understood. Buried shells, hundreds of them, were exploding in the heat and bursting from their graves after 20 years of silence.

That sudden arrival of a little Hell on wheels must have stopped those men dead in their tracks for a moment. When they recognized what it was, did the recognition give rise to any emotion but a momentary wonder?

The chances are that if a dramatist had conceived the scene he would have had them shocked into the realization of how recent the World War actually was, had them reflecting on the war-like aspect of the world now, and had them moved to making resolves to do something about it.

But it wasn't a play, and the soldiers were neither dramatists nor actors, and the chances are that what they were thinking about when the job was done was how long it would take to get back to the garrison and supper.

SUNSHINE

Once in a while a person gets a little worried about the state of things here and there around the world, and it's always a good idea then to get a newspaper and discover for one's self how wrong it was to worry at all.

It's so easy to get the wrong idea. A glance at a recent issue of one paper was reassuring no end. Two prominent news stories in particular served to turn the trick.

The first disclosed that there is one busy nation which has not even been lightly brushed by the world unrest you hear so much about. The present is dandy and the future looks better. The nation is Liberia, which is almost as big as the whole state of Pennsylvania, has a population of more than a million and a half, and 20 miles of improved highway.

The other story was an interview with a woman in Bolivar, N. Y., on the occasion of her 96th birthday. She stated without any hesitation that times now were not nearly as bad as they were just after the Civil War.

The only trouble with people is, they just don't read the right news.

SCENTED ARMIES

The world may not be growing up very fast just now, but it's getting cleaner. At a plumber's convention in Philadelphia it was disclosed that the bathtub business is getting better and better all the time.

It was also disclosed that Italy and Germany are spending "millions of dollars" on bathtubs and showers and such for their armies, feeling that a cleaner soldier is a better soldier. Which suggests a new plot that might be tried out as a measure of war-prevention.

Send some high-pressure tub-and-soap salesman out to cover the world. Let every military leader see bathtubs in the light Hitler and Mussolini have seen them in. Then send out a first-class crew of scented-bath-salt drummers. And follow that up with dusting powder, and follow that up with lavender sachet for the clothes, and then foundation creams for the skin.

There won't be any fighting after that. The boys might be goaded into slapping one another, but there wouldn't be any real fighting.

CONTROL OF THE PRESS

In an age when the relics of idealism—disarmament, humanitarianism, peace, and collective security—are being junked on the international scrap-heap, there is a constant threat that freedom of the press, where it remains, may also be discarded as an outmoded piece of idealism.

In Europe, the Nazi diplomats are demanding acceptance of their press philosophy as a basis for all international agreements. According to Otto Dietrich, Nazi press chief, enduring peace between peoples and nations is a lost ideal so long as "press baiting" and "journalistic panic mongering" are tolerated by responsible governments. That this Nazi stand is spreading the disease of press control is indicated in a recent order of the Czechoslovakian government to "edit" press reports more carefully.

Even in England, there are increasing indications that the British government is using "the public interest"—a stock phrase for concealment—to put pressure on the British press. The monumental silence of the Wallis Warfield matter has been followed by recurrent periods of blindness on the part of the London papers. Only recently, they denied until the last moment that there was any conflict between the Prime Minister and Eden.

Meanwhile, despite some chatter and flurry, America remains one of the few bright spots on the dark map of press control. The words you read in this paper today! You may be sure that they are not the mumblyings of a ventriloquist's dummy, controlled by an off-stage voice. Freedom of the press, not control of the press, remains the American ideal.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Dick and Dad should be concerned but not alarmed. First, it is not easy to tell just who is a moron; second, just whether the low intelligence is due to heredity or disease or injury; third, how many children survive and in turn have children. The best studies indicate that families in which one or both parents are feeble-minded by heredity are slightly larger than families that send their children to college, but not alarmingly so. Since such defective families, however, make up less than one per cent of our population we will not be outbred by them—assuming "we" are not one of them.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. A husband thinks a wife is small-minded if she goes to bed in curl papers, gives him burnt toast for breakfast, and corrects his jokes in public. She thinks he is small-minded if he reads the newspaper at breakfast, fails to notice her new hat and tells her of the lovely girls who "wanted to marry him." This is the diagnosis of Dr. Paul Popenoe after listening to men and women discuss each other in 25,000 interviews during the past ten years. Since men and women have precisely the same amount of brains there are probably as many of one as the other who have enough brains but yet are small-minded in their points of view.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. It uses five times as much according to a recent study reported by Science Service. So, when you wonder why you run out of oil so soon think back not over your distance, but over your speed.

Tomorrow: Can science foretell what is likely to happen?

SHOE STORIES WITH A HAPPY ENDING

Helen's Hosiery
SIMPLY COULDN'T
take it!

● Helen's hose had a chronic case of holes-in-the-heel! So bad, in fact, she took to sitting on her feet—and backing out of doorways—until she took

to Foot Saver Shoes. Now there are neither holes in her heels nor her budget. Because Foot Savers are made over an exclusive Shortback® Last that clings to the heel and instep, banishes the rub-a-dub-dub on stockings, yet leaves plenty of room for toes. Wear them and dote on their difference!

SUBLETTE

By Bruce Munro

Sublette—The Sublette Woman's club will hold their meeting at the parsonage of the Rev. D. A. Davis on Thursday, May 26. The program will be in charge of Mrs. Mildred Bailey who will speak on the subject, "The Great Composers."
The hostess will be Mrs. Katherine Davis.

The meeting of the Sublette Parent Teacher association was held at the public school Thursday evening, May 20. The program was presented by Rev. D. A. Davis.
P. V. solos were given by Roslyn
Henrichs and harmonica selection
by Audrey Munroe. Dr. Angear was introduced as the speaker of the evening, his subject being "Immunization." For the past four years the board of health in cooperation with Sublette township has carried out a program of immunization in the Sublette school and the results have been most satisfying. Dr. Angear's talk was instructive and interesting to all present.

Records Seem Doomed In N. C. I. C. Track Meet

STERLING IS CHALLENGER FOR CROWN

Dixon Has Held It Since Conference Was Organized

Several records, one of them of long standing, seem to be headed for the discard when Coach A. C. Bowers' track team goes to Sterling Saturday, in defense of its N. C. I. C. crown.

John Jensen, place winner at the state finals Saturday has a good chance to raise the high jump mark now held by Strong, former Purple and White star. The old mark of five feet ten inches should go by the boards if Long John approaches the form shown at Champaign last week when he cleared six feet.

Another mark due to be eclipsed is the pole vault record of eleven feet, oldest on the books, which was set in the loop's first meet by Beals of DeKalb in 1930. Oscar Whitlock, dusky Rochelle ace, has cleared eleven feet three on several occasions, while both Ellis and Hoemanns have been flitting with record heights, and hope to bring a new record to Dixon.

Bill Whitmore of Mendota has beaten the conference mark held by Eckhardt of Rochelle and has twice tossed the spear over 180 feet in competition, lacking but a few inches of that distance when he took second place at the state meet last weekend. If this sophomore runs true to form he should win with ease, leaving Daigue of Belvidere, Callahan of Dixon and lesser try to fight it out for the other places.

Thraetins 440 Record.
Wolf of Sterling threatens the 440 record of Bob Gebhardt, former Sterling luminary, which has stood at 53.3 since 1934. His best mark of the season is 52.5 and he has been under 54 seconds consistently. Dixon should score heavily in the field events, with an almost sure 16 points out of the high jump and broad jump. Paul Girndt has defeated every leading miler in the conference, and Grobe should garner some points in this event. Bush in the hurdles, Rambo in the 440 and 880, along with Ankeny and Bevilacqua in the weights should pile up the Dixon total.

The Bowers crew's chances depend on how much other schools out in on the Sterling total in the sprints and hurdles, and how well the locals fare in the field events. Discus and shot stars seem scarce in field this year, and these events will go to whoever is "hot" on that particular day.

Outstanding sprinters are Reed-er of Mendota with marks of 10.2 in the 100 and 23.1 in the 220, Daigue and Houden of Belvidere and Vallee and Otten of Sterling. Corrihan, lanky Sterling high hurdler has a mark of 15.5 for his season's best while Haselton of Rochelle and Janssen of Sterling have done almost as well. The present conference record is 16 flat, held jointly by Mickey McMillion of Dixon and Larry Wheeler of Sterling.

Haselton looks like a good bet in the low sticks, although Bush of the locals, Jurkens of Sterling, and O'Brien of DeKalb should push him.

For the first time in the history of the meet every conference school will be represented by a full team, and every school has a number of really outstanding boys. Preliminaries in the sprints, hurdles, weights and broad jump will be held at 9:30 A. M. with the pole vault starting at 1:30, and other events following at 2:00.

A large contingent of Dixon fans will be pulling for the Bowers

Dixons "Van"

J. D. VAN BIBBER

Dixon's genial chief of police, J. D. Van Bibber, started the festivities at Reynolds field last Sunday at the opening day contest between the Dixon Knacks and Welland baseball teams by pitching the first ball of the afternoon. Here is "Van" in action and fans agree he compares favorably in style with Brooklyn's Van Mungo.

ATLANTAN IN THIRD ROUND; TROON MEET

BULLETIN.

Troon, Scotland, May 25.—(AP)—Johnny Goodman of Omaha, U. S. amateur champion and Walker Cup player, today defeated Albert W. Briscoe, Irish internationalist, 6 and 5, to lead the surviving Americans into the fourth round of the British amateur golf championship.

Goodman was followed into the round of 32 by Charles (Chuck) Kocsis, former intercollegiate champion from Detroit, who scored at 4 and 3 over John S. Montgomerie of Britain. The two Americans will meet in the fourth round tomorrow morning.

The U. S. ranks sustained their second loss of the day when Walker Cup captain Francis Ouimet of Boston lost, one up, to big Cecil Ewing, a member of the British team in 1936. Another American, Reynolds Smith of Dallas, was put out in this morning's second round, 2 up, by young Jocelyn Walker, former Cambridge University star.

Troon, Scotland, May 25.—(AP)—Charles Yates of Atlanta defeated English amateur champion Frank Pennink, 3 and 2, today to reach the third round of the British amateur golf championship as Reynolds Smith, American Walker Cupper from Dallas, and Robert Sweeney, Anglo-American defending champion, went down to defeat.

Fred Haas, Jr., former intercollegiate champion from New Orleans, joined Yates in the third round with his second straight one-sided triumph. The lean southerner turned back Dr. J. D. McCormack of Great Britain, 7 and 5.

Smith was beaten, 2 up, by young Jocelyn Walker, former Cambridge University captain. Sweeney, a resident of London who was born in the United States, was well off his game and went out before William Robb, Perthshire doctor, by a score of 5 and 4.

Putting superbly, Yates, who yesterday eliminated his U. S. Walker Cup mate Johnny Fischer, matched Pennink's bid on the last nine. Three up at the turn, he sank putts of 18, 30 and 12 feet at

INDIANS MAY BE TOUGHEST NINE TO BEAT

Turned Back Yanks Twice in 2 Days; For Best Game

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cleveland Indians, who haven't won the American League pennant since 1920 although they often have threatened to take the flag, may turn out to be a very tough team to beat this season in spite of everything.

In this case, "everything" includes the fact that Oscar Vitt, their new manager, hardly expects to turn a fourth-place club into a pennant-winner in one season; that they have had the habit for years of falling apart in mid-season; that they're a notoriously weak road club, and that those murderous Yankees still are hanging around.

The Indians, however, have accomplished a couple of notable feats on their current home stand. They climbed back to the lead after dropping to third place in the east. They won six out of seven games from eastern rivals, and then turned back the Yanks twice in two days.

The pitching of Johnny Allen, a former Yankee, and the clouting of Earl Averill enabled the Tribe to win 9-5 yesterday and drop New York into third place. The Boston Red Sox, who took over second with a 5-4 triumph over the Detroit Tigers, invade Cleveland today for a two game series.

Allen, gaining his fifth victory, allowed nine hits including a homer by Bill Dickey with Gehrig on base. Averill hit for the circuit with two aboard in the third and tripled with the corners crammed in the fourth.

Old Lefty Grove and slightly younger Jimmy Foxx brought about Boston's victory. Grove, pitching his way out of frequent trouble, rang up his eighth straight victory. His closest squeak came in the ninth, when he retired Greenberg, York and Ross on pop flies with the tying runs on third. Foxx's homer with a mate aboard provided the winning runs.

Bees Altered Standings

The only other game which altered the standings was the Boston Bees' 10-9 triumph over Cincinnati, which sent them back into third place, a half game up on the Reds. Trailing 9-1 after Cincinnati's five-run rally in the sixth, the Bees rallied vigorously in three successive innings to win out.

New York's league-leading Giants belted over the St. Louis Cardinals, 9-4 as Slick Castleman, who hadn't started a game since last August, came back and proved his back is no longer ailing by pitching an eight-hitter. Chicago's Cubs kept pace, 2-1-2 games behind, by trouncing Brooklyn, 10-7. They belted Van Mungo out in the fourth when Augie Galan hit a homer with the bases full and after Ripper Collins had hit a circuit blow.

Chicago's injury-ridden White Sox got some good news when Monte Stratton, laid up since March with a lame arm, came back to pitch them to a 10-3 decision over Washington. They celebrated by giving him 16 blows, including Gee Walker's homer.

Lynn Nelson's five-hit flinging and a well timed attack enabled the Athletics to whip the St. Louis Browns 6-1. Pittsburgh's game at Philadelphia was rained out.

the tenth, fifteenth and sixteenth to close out the English Weatherholder before a gallery of 1,000.

This afternoon Yates meets Stan Morrison, from nearby Turnberry, in the third round.

Watching the Georgian play sixteen holes in two under 4's, Henry Cotton remarked, "Now that boy's good. I like his iron and he puts very boldly."

Pennink, experimenting with a new driver, couldn't keep the ball in the fairway off the tee.

The triumphs by Yates and Haas, and the defeat of Smith, put five of the original nine American Walker Cuppers into this afternoon's third round, which was to cut the field to 32 survivors.

In addition to the two southerners, they were U. S. champion Johnny Goodman of Omaha, team Captain Francis Ouimet of Boston, and Charles (Chuck) Kocsis, former intercollegiate champion from Detroit.

Paddy Slides Into Home

Paddy McDonald is seen above sliding into home plate to give the Dixon Knacks their first tally over Welland's baseball team in the Opening Day home contest for the Knacks here last Sunday afternoon. This was only the beginning of Paddy's afternoon performance. He also knocked a long home run fly over the left field fence.

THREE-I LEAGUE RACE SCRAMBLED

All Clubs Within Two Games Of Top, Evansville Leading

Chicago, May 25.—(AP)—The Three-I League race was a wild scramble with no holds barred today.

And the edge of Evansville Bees, on top since the season opened, was nipped so short that only two games separated them from the sixth place Decatur Comies.

In four night games yesterday that brought defeat for the Bees and victories for the Moline plovers and Springfield Brownies, the latter two clubs moved within a scant half mile game of the leaders.

And Waterloo's defeat by Moline and Bloomington's ten-inning loss to Decatur grouped those teams closely together near fourth place and edged all three closer to the top of the heap.

The Plovers' drive continued last night when they slugged 15 hits and beat Waterloo, 11 to 5. Clinton, behind Amend's five-hit pitching turned back Cedar Rapids 7 to 1.

The leading Bees were able to get but two runs in the first game at Springfield and the Browns sewed up the game by coming back with five in their half of the same inning. But that wasn't enough for the Browns. Although they got a rather short total of 11 hits off three Bees twirlers, the final score was 14 to 2.

Decatur, off to a three run lead over the Bloomers in the first inning, eventually had to come from behind to tie the score with a run in the ninth before putting across the winning tally in the tenth. It took the Comies four pitchers to win however.

The same clubs were scheduled to play again today.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)
Lynn Nelson, Athletics—Beat St. Louis Browns with five hits, 6 to 1. Vince DiMaggio, Bees—His homer, double single drove in three runs as Bees rallied off top Reds, 10-9.

Lefty Grove, Red Sox—Won eighth consecutive victory and kept season's record spotless by beating Tigers, 5 to 4.

Monty Stratton, White Sox—Returned to action and held Senators to ten hits to win, 10-3.

Earl Averill, Indians—Clouted homer and triple and drove in six runs in 9-5 rout of Yankees.

Slick Castleman, and Jim Ripple, Giants—Former made first start of season and held Cardinals to eight hits in 9-4 triumph; Ripple got four-for-four and batted in two runs.

Augie Galan and Tex Carleton, Cubs—Galan hit homer with bases loaded and Carleton blanked the Dodgers in seven of nine innings to win 10-4.

McKim Gains Rank On Tennis Ladder Defeats Goddard

Jack McKim became the first challenger to gain a ranking on the Telegraph's tennis ladder Tuesday evening by defeating Gene Goddard from No. 12 ranking in a three-set match 2-6, 12-10, 6-4.

The match began last week and ended in a 9-9 deadlock in the second set when darkness halted the match. The addition of McKim to the ladder now extends the list of ranked players to thirteen, and all unranked challengers must play Goddard, as before, in order to get on the ladder.

Octagon House

BY PHOEBE AT WOOD TAYLOR

The Story So Far:

Assey Mayo, Cape Cod detective, is privately investigating the murder of Marina Lorne, whose husband's post office mural has aroused Quantomet. She was killed by a left handed blow from her sister's knife. Suspected Pam Frye disappears because an unknown person who smokes Turkish tobacco is trailing her to discover the whereabouts of $50,000 worth of ambergris Pam found the day of the murder. Agreeable Tim Carr, a boarder at the Frye's Octagon House, is left handed, smokes Turkish tobacco, and hated Marina. Gabby Nettie Hobbs who swears she saw Pam commit the murder, is called a liar by Peggy Boone, an artist, and Roddy Strutt, whose plane crashed in the square, pays Nettie $5,000 to keep his name out of the story. Assey decides to see the injured pilot.

Chapter 17

The Indestructible Man

"By the way, how's the crowd over to Octagon House getting along?" Assey asked the traffic cop.

"Hanson's got 'em in order now, I guess. But they tipped up the flower beds, though, and a couple was tryin' to make off with that iron deer before he got 'em under control. There's some still around the garage at Lornes'. Someone went by a while ago with a load of barbed wire, an' there was a state cop on the truck. I guess they're settin' up a barrier. Where you bound?"

"Hither an' yon. Oh, if you know where pickle lines come from, Jerry, go tell the minister's wife over at the Exchange. Tell her I think she could prob'ly palm off lemons dipped in brine, if she got hard up. Oh—an' tell 'em they're missin' a good bet in taffy apples. They'd ought to fetch half a dollar, an' the prime expense is sticks."

He extracted Syl's truck from the maze of parked cars, and bounced over to the little Pochet hospital.

The nurse in charge was the daughter of a neighbor of his. She hesitated a moment when Assey addressed her by name, and then she laughed.

"Why, Assey," she said, "I hardly recognized you in that outfit. I don't think I'd have known you if I hadn't seen Syl's truck. That truck used to belong to Father, you know. It's a family legend. Isn't this business over in Quantomet simply hideous? And is it true that you're not helping with the case?"

"What do you think?" Assey asked.

"You can't fool your neighbors," she said. "Of course you are. You're up to something, dressed this way, and driving that truck. I suppose you want to see Earl Jennings, don't you?"

"Who's he?"

"That Quantomet selectman who got bumped in Roddy Strutt's plane crash last night."

"As a matter of fact," Assey said, "I'd like to see Roddy Strutt's pilot, Can't?"

She shook her head. "I'm afraid not," she said. "He's in pretty bad shape. We hoped Roddy would agree to sending for Dr. Carter, but Roddy wasn't interested. Roddy isn't even interested enough to notify the fellow's family, if he's got any. We telegraphed all the people whose names and addresses we found in his wallet, but no one's answered, and two wires came back. Unknown, or something."

"Get Carter," Assey said, "and charge him to me, will you? And—" "Assey, that's swell of you!"

"Not a bit," Assey said. "And when he gets so that he can be asked questions, let me know. Be sure. And—just for fun, if Roddy should take it into his head to see the fellow—what's his name? Brigham? Well, if Roddy asks to see Brigham, cause him to be thwarted, will you?"

"Somethin' Queer"

"I will, and I'll tell the rest. We're all so mad at him, and anyway, you'll be taking charge. That'll make it all right. You know," she added, "I shouldn't say this but there's something queer about this crash. Brigham's sleeping now, but he's been unconscious, and he kept muttering about the plane and Roddy, and calling him names, and telling him to keep off. It was sort of bloodcurdling."

"Could you say, Susan, if all Brigham's injuries come from the crash?"

"Where else—oh, Oh, I see what you mean. That someone might have hurt him before it. I couldn't say. Assey, Carter might be able to tell you, and Brigham can, certainly, when he's better. It was quite a crash, enough to bang up those cars in the square, and shake up Earl Jennings—look, won't you take pity on him and see him? He's simply raving about this Quantomet business, and everyone in town's so busy making money out of the tourists, they haven't time to do more than send consoling messages by phone. His wife has been over twice for ten seconds. She's making doughnuts by the hundred thousands, and she says if she can live through another day, they'll have a new car."

"Is this Jennings hurt bad?" Assey asked.

"No, he's sort of an indestructible man. He's sort of bruised, but his doctor wants him to stay for a couple of days, and rest. He's got a bad heart. Won't you see him?"

"Sure, for a minute," Assey said. "But I don't know the man."

"That won't matter. He knows you, and he's so eager to talk with someone."

Mr. Jennings, a burly six-footer who seemed far too big for his bed, smiled at Assey and extended his hand.

"Boy," he said feelingly, "am I glad to see a human face!"

Assey laughed. "I hear you're sort of marooned an' deserted."

"Oh, lots of folks phoned, but as soon as they find out I'm all right, and just being kept in cold storage, they send their regards and say they'll drop over when I get back home. You can't blame 'em. There hasn't been so much money loose in town for years. My boy—he's 15—he's had trouble this summer, selling little wooden windmills for a dime apiece. Today, he and his friend got the idea of making little octagon houses out of two by fours, and painting 'em up, and they're getting a dollar apiece for just as many as they can make. Think of it! If only the doctor—"

"But I suppose he's right. I wouldn't keep quiet, if I got out. I'd be out hawking with the rest. Say, what do you think about this murder?"

"There's more to it than meets the eye," Assey said, "if that's what you mean."

"Sure there is," Jennings agreed. "After I heard about it, I went up town—I was going to rout out the other selectmen, and have 'em send for you. But they me you was away, and then that fool crashed his plane, and I landed over here. But you know what I think—and what everyone else in town thinks? We think it's someone that was sore about being pictured in that mural thing. You don't know how mad people in Quantomet are about that!"

"Red Lead Paint"

"By degrees," Assey said, "I'm gatherin' that there's been considerable indignation. But the point is, is there any one person that's madder than any other? And why should Marina be killed, and not Lorne, who painted the picture?"

"Oh, Marina put him up to it," Jennings said. "Lorne's a fool. The only way that fellow can think is with a paint brush in his hand, and then he isn't too bright. Everyone knows she put him up to painting in the faces. He couldn't have thought of it by himself."

"Then you think it's a local person, who knew enough to figure that Marina was to blame?"

"I do," Jennings said emphatically. "And I thought right off the bat about Aaron Frye. He's in the mural, Father Time, or something. I don't know. But he's had more than that from that daughter of his in the past. So has Pam. The way I figure, if they haven't killed Marina before, that picture wouldn't move 'em to kill her now. Then—you'll laugh at this. But I thought of Nettie."

"Is she in the paintin'?" Assey asked. "I seen it, but I got to laughin' so, I had to go out before I took in more than the main panel."

"The other panels are the ones with Quantomet faces," Jennings said. "Nettie's an old hag gutting a fish."

"A fish wife, huh? Well, that's apt," Assey said.

"Uh-huh. And beside her are two pickle lines. She's had a jar of pickle lines in that window of her store for years. Then I decided it couldn't be Nettie, because the time they said she left Octagon House and the time Pam found her sister, they didn't hitch up. And besides, I had a better idea. And you'll think I'm crazy, for sure. I thought of Roddy Strutt."

"Is he in the mural, too?"

"He sure is. With two girls on his lap, and his face—well, it's Roddy all right," Jennings said bitterly. "Anyway, last night when he crawled out of that plane, he was laughing like it was a big joke. I hate him anyway, but that made me sore, with Brigham lying there. I limped over, and lousy as I felt, I kicked him square in the seat of the pants. Knocked him down, too. And while he was down, I gave him a couple more kicks."

"That," Assey said approvingly, "was the proper gesture."

"And you know what I noticed when I kicked him? A couple of streaks on his pants. I thought they were blood at first, but later I seen they weren't. They were red lead paint. And I'm a plumber by trade. And yesterday morning I spent up to Lornes', fixing up that pump, and painting their water tanks with red lead. And the old water tank that I painted, the big one, that's out in the garage where Marina was killed. See what I mean?"

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

PERSONAL DEVOTION TO CHRIST

Text: Mark 14:3-11, 27-31
By Wm. E. Gilroy, D. D.
Editor of Advance

The New Testament is a book of moving stories of human life, in which deep interest and profound human and social values are compressed into amazingly little space.

Here is this story of the woman who anointed Jesus with precious ointment as He was being entertained at the house of Simon, the leper, in Bethany. What deep and in a measure difficult, questions it raises, and yet how closely related they are to all of life in every age!

The alabaster cruse of ointment of pure nard, which the woman bought, was very costly, and of course there was great indignation among those who murmured about the waste of such precious stuff.

"It might have been sold," they said, "for above 300 shillings, and given to the poor."

Instead of complaining to Jesus they evidently addressed and abused the poor woman. But Jesus heard their murmurings and interfered. Surely the Master who had such concern for the poor would rebuke her and would tell her that she could have made better use of the ointment. But, no, Jesus commended her for what she had done. He looked beyond the material aspects of the thing to the spirit of what the woman had done and to her purpose.

It is doubtful whether these disciples who murmured were really as much concerned about the poor as they professed to be, and even if they were sincere in their protest, they did not realize that they were making a great deal more of material things than they imagined.

Among the most spiritually minded, there is a fine disregard of merely material interests and values. Sometimes this shows itself in rather regrettable ways in an innocence and carelessness about many matters, that is often embarrassing to others.

But in a higher and better sense, there is an attitude toward life and a view of life that is far above the estimate of things in money and figures. If one were among the poor, depending for help, he would have a far better chance of consideration and kindness in a society of people like this woman who poured forth the precious ointment, than in a society of penny-pinching and narrow-visioned disciples.

The world lacks today in large generous impulse. Far better that there should be the pouring out of precious things in gracious acts and deeds than a small-minded and niggardly hoarding.

We have here not only the contrast between individuals, but we have also the contrast between spiritual and social attitudes.

The word that Jesus spoke has been fulfilled. Wherever the Gospel is preached throughout the world, what this woman did is spoken of as a memorial of her. God bless the precious ointment bearer, and God grant that we may have a portion of her spirit!
